

New Cat Line-Up Shines

Even a new recipe didn't keep the Wildcats out of the fryin' pan but it did make the end product a little better tasting.

Mulvane boys basketball coach Charlie Mason, trying to break out of a 0-4 start this season, went with a new line-up against Andale Friday night, Dec. 19, in a non-conference game but while the Cats looked more alive, the result was the same. The Indians edged out to a 58-56 victory.

Mason started two juniors--Dale Landes and Vic Marcelle--and a sophomore, 6-foot-5 David Hagerman in an effort to shake something loose. "It worked a lot better," said Mason. "We scored some points but maybe a new offense we instituted helped, too. Still, our young people gave us 19 points. They gave us a super first half."

Marcelle scored eight points, Landes six and Hagerman five and when seniors Darryl Brueggeman and Greg Hamilton got in, they played with renewed vigor. Hamilton had his best game of the year, scoring 10 points.

"Hamilton and Brueggeman gave us some spark in the second half," added the Wildcat Boss. "Greg finally got some scoring on the board, and Brueggeman gave us nine rebounds."

Overall, Mason wasn't that upset with the defeat. "We've looked over the films, gone through the statistics and we feel it was a good team effort on our part," said Mason.

The difference, any way you cut it, was at the free throw line, where the Wildcats hit 12 of 26. Andale made 14 of 28 to give the Indians the margin of victory in the final Mulvane game until after the holidays.

Seniors Kevin Burke and Brent Iverson, steady all season, along with Hamilton shared team scoring honors with 10 points apiece.

Coach Rick Erickson's Wildcat B-team got off to a rocky start and never caught up against Andale, bowing 57-42. Tim Warren and Brian Pope each scored eight points for the B-team. Joey Belden and Robert Turner scored six each for the Cats.
