

Guard Jones Hot

MHS Girls Shell Wellington

The Mulvane girls split a pair of games this past week but MHS girls basketball coach Bill Stinson feels his club is on a roll.

"We have played some good basketball in the past couple of weeks and if we can get Valley Center Friday night and play well in our last two games, we can go into the sub-state in good shape," said Stinson. The Cat coach's optimism was high following Mulvane's 42-29 shelling of Wellington Tuesday night, Feb. 14, in a Chisholm Trail League game which came on the heels of a 59-37 loss Friday night, Feb. 10, at home against talented Buhler.

At Wellington, Stinson continued to get outstanding shooting from junior guard Lisa Jones, who was making her first start. "We came out and moved the ball against their zone and Lisa and Tanya (Infinger) knocked down some shots from the wings and it got us off to a good start," said Stinson, whose team is 6-11 overall and 3-5 in the CTL. "It helps to get a team you can beat down and keep them out of the game."

Jones pumped in 10 points in the first half as Mulvane was building a 22-13 advantage. Overall, Jones finished with 16, as did the senior Infinger. Sophomore Lori Cox added eight points.

Against Buhler, Jones had another hot night, scoring a career-high 21 points and Melody Carey hit eight.

The Cat junior varsity lost at Wellington, 32-28, as Teresa Graybeal scored six points and Debbie Yohe had five.

The jayvees weren't in the game against Buhler as the Crusaders jumped to an 11-0 start and were ahead, 27-4, at intermission on the way to a 50-18 decision. Tiane Dossey scored six points for Mulvane and Terri Lawless was next with four.

The Wildcats will be at home against Valley Center Friday night, Feb. 17, with hopes of reversing a one-point loss (26-25) at Valley Center in January.
